

Chronic cough and frequent lung infections?

It might be more than COPD.
And help is available.

AFFLOVEST®

MOBILE AIRWAY CLEARANCE THERAPY

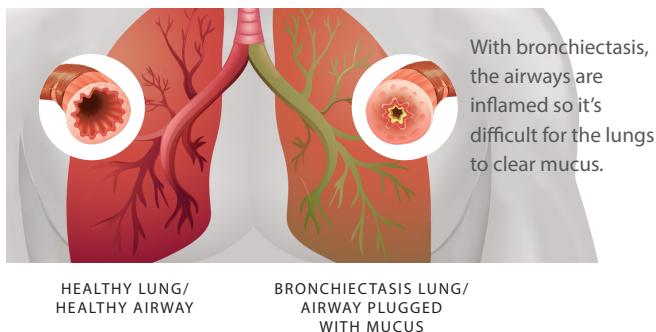

Tactile
MEDICAL®

Do you struggle with any of the following?

- Chronic, productive (mucus) coughing
- Shortness of breath
- Frequent lung infections requiring antibiotics

It could be bronchiectasis.

Bronchiectasis (pronounced brong-kee-eck-tuh-sis) is a chronic condition that occurs when the walls of the lung's airways thicken from chronic inflammation or infection. Mucus builds up and inflammation makes it difficult for lungs to clear and to expel mucus. If airways can't clear, bacteria grow, leading to repeated and serious lung infections and breathing impairment.

Bronchiectasis is often confused with COPD, but requires different therapy.

That's why it's important to get screened: so you'll be treated appropriately. Although there's no cure for bronchiectasis, early detection and treatment can prevent further lung damage and can allow you to have better quality of life.

WHAT PATIENTS ARE SAYING ABOUT AFFLOVEST

“

Thank you, AffloVest!!!!!! I received this life saving vest just five days ago. I have been doing it twice a day for 30 minutes each time. I haven't seen 100 for my oxygen level in a LONG time. I am feeling more normal.

CHERI J.

“

... my cough, my congestion is about 3/4 improved, maybe a little bit more. There are times I think [the cough and congestion] have actually gone away. Now I'm up to using it half an hour, 10 minutes on each mode. The fact that it's totally portable is amazing!

ARNIE

Works like a charm to help clear my lungs! I especially appreciate that I can walk around and (groan) even do laundry while receiving a treatment. The AffloVest is amazing technology.
